n4a and Wells Fargo Advisors have teamed up to provide consumer materials to help older adults and their loved ones understand financial exploitation, including a checklist to help individuals avoid being the target of these types of scams.

What is Answers on Aging™?

Answers on Aging™ is a program n4a developed to provide local Area Agencies on Aging and Title VI programs with resources and tools on topics of high interest and relevance.

What are the program components?

Financial Exploitation is an initiative within the Answers on Aging™ program that provides professionals across the Aging Network with the following:

1. A one-stop-resource to find all the information you need on financial exploitation. The Answers on Aging™ | Financial Exploitation initiative includes a webpage that serves as an information hub containing available resources from government, industry and respected nonprofits across the nation.

2. An easy-to-read consumer guide provides a catalyst for discussion between aging professionals and their clients while also providing older adults with a resource that they can take home and discuss with their friends and families.

What is Wells Fargo Advisors’ role in this project?

n4a is grateful for the financial support Wells Fargo Advisors provided for this initiative. However, n4a developed all materials.

What does n4a hope to achieve with this initiative?

n4a’s goal is to provide information and tools to assist local AAAs and Title VI programs in their local efforts to educate the public about this important topic.

Who should I contact with questions?
